

7. You may have noticed that the market demand curve is always flatter than any individual demand curve.
- Is market price elasticity of demand also always lower than individual price elasticity of demand? Why or why not?
 - If the market demand curve is flatter than any individual demand curve, is the partial derivative of the market demand function greater or less than the partial derivative of individual demand functions?