

PRESENTER: Stories have circulated in popular culture about folks cooking on their cars for decades. From truckers heating cans of beans on their engine rigs, to hunters using the engine block to cook venison.