

WHERE TO GO FOR HELP

AT YOUR COLLEGE

VISIT . . .

Career Center

IF YOU NEED HELP . . .

learning about specific jobs and careers, how to prepare an effective résumé and cover letter, and prepare for an interview.

Academic Advising/First-Year Counselors

finding supportive networks to connect academic learning to co-curricular and extracurricular learning.

Instructors

connecting your academic interests to careers. Instructors can recommend specific courses that relate to a particular career. Some instructors have direct contact with companies and serve as contacts for internships.

Library

finding information on careers.

Upperclass Students

navigating courses and finding important resources. Many two-year colleges have established peer mentoring programs that connect you to upperclass students for one-on-one guidance. Upperclass students might also have practical experience gained from internships and volunteering.

Student Organizations

finding leadership development opportunities.
