

MAN: Never, ever block the airflow from your engine's air intake. The intake refers to all parts of your engine that suck in air, including the largest tubes going to the engine, and are often connected to or near the vents at the front of the car, any visible filters, and so on.