

QUICK REFERENCE GUIDE TO PLAGIARISM

You have plagiarized if you:

- copied information word for word without using quotation marks, whether or not you acknowledge the source,
- paraphrased information (put it in your own words and sentences) without acknowledging the source,
- borrowed someone else's organization, sentence structure, or sequence of ideas without acknowledging the source,
- reused someone else's visual material (graphs, tables, charts, maps, diagrams, and so on) without acknowledging the source, and
- submitted another writer's paper as your own.